Life Applications for Florida Revised: Foreign Travel Questions Removed

American General Life is announcing an update in Florida for Part A of its Life Insurance applications. The company is dropping the foreign travel question from Part A in both the regular (#AGLC100565-FL) and the term-only (#AGLC100240-FL) applications until such time that the Florida Department of Financial Services instructs insurers how foreign travel may be a factor in the underwriting process.

As the company works to get the updated Part A's into production, your immediate assistance is requested. FastForms Web currently contains the revised Part A for the regular application (form #AGLC100565-FL) and you should continue to use that form for your Florida applications. We are working to get a revised version of the term-only Part A (AGLC100240-FL) in FastForms as well. Until that occurs, we prefer that you use the revised regular application (form #AGLC100565-FL) from which the foreign travel question has been removed.

To the extent a change to forms is not immediately practical, the field is authorized and instructed to immediately stop collecting responses to the intended foreign travel question in either of the application forms. The company will not be pursuing that detail in connection with Florida applications until further notice.
